PAT FARRY In conjunction with
RURAL HEALTH EDUCATION TRUST

Auction Lots

Visionary leader, highly respected teacher, healer, mentor, tireless advocate and champion of Rural Health, Dr Pat Farry was unmatched in his efforts and contribution to Rural Medicine and General Practice education.

His vision of sustainable and quality health services for rural communities and small towns of New Zealand was through education. He devoted much of his career to advocating and lobbying for improvements and funding for rural medicine.

The Pat Farry Rural Health Education Trust was established in March 2010, with the purpose of continuing this legacy.

The objectives of the Trust are to support sustainable and quality health services to rural health communities by:

- Encouraging both undergraduate and postgraduate students to pursue a career in rural health;
- Supporting the provision of innovative rural health education for students including visits to world centres of excellence;
- Further developing the experience of 'real life' learning with rural patients;
- Using technology to further relationships between general practices, rural and teaching hospitals.

Felton Road Lunch

Up to 6 guests are invited to Felton Road Winery for a special “raid the library” lunch.

Starting with a tour of the winery and vineyard with Felton Road owner and occasional TV Chef: Nigel Greening. Guests will be invited to select 2 special wines from the Felton Road library (containing every wine Felton Road has ever made).

These will be augmented by Nigel’s selection of rare bottles from the winery collection of fine Burgundies and other rare Felton Road wines. Nigel will then prepare a “Panini Noir” 6 course tasting lunch based around the organically grown vegetables, fruit and meats grown and hunted at Felton Road.
